It's Time for Camp

There are camps to meet every interest, price range and schedule. Knowing your options, as well as your child's personality, will help you identify the best programs for your child. The following information will help you as you start your search.

Camp Tekoa

n Overnight Camp: Most offer a variety of programs for children starting at age 7. Overnight camp options include coed, single sex and specialty camps that focus on a particular program and have varying overnight accommodations, such as cabins, tents and tepees.

n Day Camp: Similar to overnight camps, these camps take younger children, starting at age 4, and everyone returns home at the end of the day.

McGinnis Woods Counrty Day School

n Specialty Camps and Programs: Campers can embark on adventures as varied as learning how to ride a horse, water ski or dance. If your child has a special interest, there likely is a camp that specializes in it.

n Special Needs Campers: A physical, medical or mental disability is not a roadblock to a camp experience. Each year more than 1 million children with special needs benefit from summer camp. Some camps specialize in serving certain groups while other camps integrate campers with special needs into the total camp population.

n Session Lengths Vary:

Children may stay at camp for a few days, a few weeks or the entire summer. At camp, there's a session length for every child, budget and schedule.

n Cost: Camp remains a very affordable option for most everyone. Fees can range from $15 to $120 per day, depending upon the choice of camp, the facilities offered and the camper's needs. Many camps and other organizations offer financial assistance based on need.

Research tools to help with your camp search n Go to a camp expo. You'll find lots of camp information under one roof. You can talk with representatives of the camps you're interested in and gather brochures. (Atlanta Parent's Camp Expos are Jan. 23 at North Point Mall, Feb. 13 at Town Center Mall and March 5 & 6 at Perimeter Mall (all Sat. expos are from 11 a.m.-4 p.m.; Sun., March 6 from 1-5 p.m.)

n Research online. Most camps have extensive information and photos to give you a picture of what camp life is like.

n Ask your family, friends and neighbors. Many of them were campers themselves or can tell you about their child's experience at camp.

Atlanta Parent Magazine's Camp Expo

For overnight camps

n Visit the finalists. If you're unsure which camp is best, take your child and go for a tour. Some camps have open houses, and you'll get a good sense of how your kid will spend his week or weeks at camp. Consider starting your search a year in advance and visiting a summer camp in progress to see what goes on.

n Get the names of former campers. Camps you're interested in should be able to help you contact former campers who can tell you what your child can expect.

Choosing the Best Overnight Camp

Your child is your best source of information when selecting a summer camp. With a variety of programs and activities available, overnight camp offers adventures to match a child's interests.

Answer the following questions before you enroll your child in an overnight camp:

- What locale do I want (for example, mountains, oceanfront, close to home)?
- 2 Do I want a traditional camp that gives my child a wide variety of experiences or do I want to select a specialty camp that focuses on a particular activity or set of skills?
- 3 Will my child feel more comfortable in a large or small camp?
- How rustic do I want the camp to be?
- How structured do I want the program to be? Does my child like to have lots of choice in the activity schedule?
- Is my child ready to be away from home for an extended stay? This will help you to select either an overnight or day camp setting.
- What session length is best for my child and our family plans for the summer?
- 8 How can I stay in touch with my child during camp? Does the camp allow mail, phone calls or e-mail? Does the camp have parent visitation days?
- How will the camp meet my child's special dietary or physical needs?

10 What is my budget for camp tuition? Remember, some camps may offer financial aid.

Porter Academy Summer Camp

While summer vacation carries happy memories of family, friends, and the great outdoors, it also has a downside. Many students suffer significant academic loss over the summer, and this loss seems to be exaggerated for children with learning differences. Porter Academy's goal is to help children maintain academic levels within a fun, relaxed atmosphere. Each of the five weeks has a different theme: Barnyard Blast, Creative Construction, Where the Wild Things Are, American Vacation, and Bug's Life. Academics are interwoven into fun activities throughout each day as well as directly taught in small groups. This balance of fun and academics allows campers to relax and enjoy their summer while having academic skills reinforced.

Campers participate in PE, Occupational Therapy, Music Therapy, games, arts & crafts, and hands-on-learning activities as well as in-house field trips including jugglers, magicians, hands-on science educators, and animal encounters. Porter Academy creates a fun and fulfilling summer program that keeps students engaged and learning throughout the summer, thereby linking their academic success from year to year.

10 Tips for Choosing a Day Camp

How do you choose the right day camp for your child? There are hundreds in the metro area, each touting the best program. To begin, here are some basic questions that are specific to day camps:

- 1 Is the camp full-time or half-day? Is extended day available?
- 2 Is transportation provided? Where will the camp be held?
- What is the cost per week? Is this all-inclusive? Are field trips, arts and crafts project supplies and swimming lessons included? What is the fee if parents are late picking up their child?
- 4 What is the total group size?
- 5 Is lunch provided? Snacks? Drinks? Are lunches refrigerated?
- Is every minute of the day scheduled or is it flexible?
- What are the different age groupings of children? Can siblings be put together?
- 8 How do counselors handle a child who does not want to participate in a particular activity? Does the camp schedule include a nap time or rest period? (for younger campers)
 - What are the bathroom facilities like?
- 10 Is recreational equipment safe and in good condition?
